APRIL PLATE SHARE

SOUTHEAST INDIA PROJECT

Since the tsunami of 2004, FPC has supported the rural dalit villages and children of southeast India. This January would have been Bob Tabor's 17th trip (Russ Hart's 3rd, Vicky Tabor's 5th) to the villages and Orphanage. The pandemic caused us to cancel our scheduled visit again this year. We had to forgo the Friendship Kits that FPC families generously assemble each year for the children at the orphanage. Covid has drastically changed the lives at WIDE orphanage. We have helped fund a new building to increase the number of girls who can live at WIDE and enjoy a safe, healthy life and an education. All the children have recently been allowed by the government to return to the Orphanage and resume their education. Kumari, who operates WIDE with her husband and daughter, had been delivering food each month to each of the villages where the children are now dispersed, supporting their entire families. This has incurred extra expenses, and we have been sending her additional funding to support her efforts, as well as to supply food (rice, dal, spices, vegetables, milk) to a destitute Gypsy village and a refugee camp for Tamils who fled the civil war in Sri Lanka.

We also continue to support Women's Self-Help Groups in dalit villages as well as micro-loans to women for dairy herds, tailoring training and foot treadle sewing machines, and organic farming. Your continued generous support is greatly appreciated.

SUNDAY APRIL 3, 2022

This week April 3rd in our Religious Education Program:

Sunday all children and youth will remain in the sanctuary.

We are so excited that (after two long years) we are finally able to gather for a multigenerational service!!

This service will feature a story told by both children and adults that interweaves the story with music, acting and opportunities for all to participate.

Director of Religious Education

ART SERVICE: The Myth of Talent & a 'Pop-up' Art Show

Brad Dumont & Artists of FPC

9:00 in the sanctuary and 11:00 in the sanctuary and online

10:05am-10:55am: 'Pop-up' art show in Fellowship Hall

Service: "Talent" - a loaded word which limits our exploration of creativity around the assumption that some were born with 'gifts' and others were not. Or possibly a word that some have found comfort in as a way to lift up and share a unique skill set they possess. Whether the label of 'talent' has carried a certain connotation for you, we have all experienced moments where we have doubted our creative selves. Come hear from artists at FPC as they talk about self-doubt in the face of creative challenges and consider 'The Myth of Talent.'

'Pop-up' Art Show: Between services please join us in the Fellowship Hall where we will put out all of the folding tables for folks to display a few pieces of their art. This is meant to be casual, quick, fun, and informal! All levels and types of art are welcome to be displayed as long as you can setup quickly and leave space for others. We'd love to see everyone (youth too!) contribute a piece of art to the gallery! Please bring a card or page that has your name and a description of your work to go alongside it, unless you want to be anonymous!

We are no longer requiring advance registrations for in-person worship. We do require masks (covering both the nose and mouth) and social distancing in our building for worship services. Thank you!

Moving Forward! FPC's Strategic Plan

STRATEGIC PLAN DISCUSSIONS

Come and learn about the exciting plans and ideas around Social Justice, Buildings and Campus that are part of our Strategic Plan. *The discussion will be held in the community room after both the 9:00 and 11:00 services. For zoom participants, the discussion will be after the 11 o'clock service in the main breakout room

Buildings and Campus

Like a home, our buildings and landscape are a reflection on who we are. By maintaining our buildings and caring for our landscape, we show the care we have for each other and our community. It is important to keep our campus in good working order both functionally and aesthetically.

This ongoing effort will maintain the value of the buildings and project a good image to the town, visitors, prospective members, and renters. So, the vision from the strategic plan that we provide adequate funding to ensure that our Buildings and Campus are well maintained now and into the future.

Social Justice Programs

Our vision includes strengthening and leveraging social justice programs through continued outreach and partnership. Task Forces such as Asylum Seekers, Climate Change Task Force and Racial Justice are working with external partners to further the causes we care about. We will continue to participate in UU social justice groups like UU Mass Action and UU Collaborative and partner with groups such as NASJA, IINE as well as interfaith coalitions. We will seek out new community alliances in areas that support our work. We will also work to build awareness of our activities within the community.

Looking Ahead to FPC's Summer Services

June 19 through September 4

At our recent Worship Committee meeting we began the planning process for this year's summer services, which will begin on June 19 and run each Sunday for 12 weeks through September 4

Do you have an idea for a summer service? A member of the Worship Committee would be happy to be a resource for you and make sure your service conforms to any guidelines (such as Covid) we might have. Alternatively, is there someone you think the Worship Committee should approach about leading a service of their own?

While we are not prescribing an overarching theme for this year's services, we are particularly aware of the connections we are making with others in our broader community, and we would love to have a few services that focus on extending those bridges and possibly introducing us to other local organizations with compatible missions.

Please contact any of us on the Worship Committee with your ideas, suggestions, or questions:
